THE BLACK FACE OF BRITAIN'S SCHOOLS

BRITISH CUSTOMS AND the English language are to take a back seat in our schools in favour of an education system in which the multi-cultural, multi-lingual and multi-faith element is dominant.

Children, whose families have been in Britain for a thousand years or more are to be treated as second class citizens as Asian, West Indian and African children, whose families in some cases have been in Britain just for a matter of months, are given preference in education.

That is what is outlined in the Swann Report, a government sponsored survey, commissioned in 1979 by the then Labour Government and enthusiastically endorsed by the subsequent Tory Governments, to investigate how ethnic minorities living in Britain can be helped in the education field.

DESTRUCTION

In plain terms the report calls for the destruction of the present education system in our schools. It calls for the scrapping of the 1944 Education Act which ordained that a hymn and a prayer should start the day at all schools. In fact, morning assemblies are to be done away with altogether because, in the terms of the report, "... such rituals favour Christianity over and above other religions such as Hinduism and Islam".

The report demands that every school, even those in all white areas, will have to provide courses in languages such as Creole (a West Indian pidgin tongue), Gujarati and Punjabi, in the way that French, German or Spanish are now offered.

Every school must teach subjects such as maths, science, history and geography in Gujarati and Punjabi.

Every school must practise positive discrimination (putting Blacks before Whites). For example, hiring Black, or Asian teachers in preference to White ones where the qualifications are broadly equal.

The introduction of reverse discrimination in higher education where a quota system allows a set number of places for ethnic minorities. This means that a highly qualified White student could be refused a place in a university because that university must enrol less qualified Black students to meet its quota.

The recommendations in the ■ Guess who benefits from the Swann Report?

Swann Report are an insult to the British people and an affront to the memory of those who died in two world wars fighting to protect British freedom, British customs and the British way of life from alien invaders.

The anti-British nature of the report spotlights the very make-up of the treacherous pro-immigrant lobby within the British establishment. A lobby that will do all within its considerable power to elevate the coloured community living in Britain to a status above the ordinary British folk.

HARDLY HAD the ink dried on the Swann Report, let alone been published, than the fifth-column of pro-ethnic agents in Britain's schools were implementing its recommendations.

Frank Flynn, headmaster of the Moreland School in Islington, North London, eagerly abandoned the morning hymn and prayer at his school and allowed the children to enact scenes from coloured singer, Michael Jackson's film, Thriller! Last year Flynn also scrapped the Christmas Carol Concert saying that the substantial majority of ethnic pupils 'did not really understand it'.

Swann Report: IQ Cover-up

THE ORIGINS of the Swann Report go back to February 1977 when the parliamentary Select Committee on Race Relations and Immigration highlighted concern about academic underachievement of West Indian pupils and called for a top level independent inquiry.

Helping Lord Swann, a former Chairman of the BBC, in this inquiry was a committee of twenty-three. A committee made up of eight representatives of Britain's ethnic minorities, a freelance writer from the Caribbean Community Project, a representative of the Joint Council for the Welfare of immigrants, an adviser on multi-cultural education from Bradford, a Notting Hill parish priest, a reader in intercultural studies, also from Bradford and a former director of Community Affairs from Conservative Central Office. A motley crew to say the least and hardly likely to be particularly concerned with the effect of their report on the majority of White children.

The committee voted against inviting certain experts in the education field to give advice. One such researcher who, not surprisingly, was snubbed was Professor Hans Eysenck, Professor of Psychology at the London University Institute of Psychiatry and the director of the Psychology Department at Maudsley Hospital. His extensive research in this field has revealed vast differences in the IQ in children of different races.

Those IQ differences revealed by Professor Eysenck are still as evident as ever. This year's exam results in the London Borough of Brent show that in the south of the borough, overwhelmingly Black and Asian, the results were markedly below the standards in the north of the borough which is predominantly White. In fact the results were the worst ever recorded in the borough with only 5% of sixteen year-olds managing to scrape through English languages and mathematics.

The Swann Report is a pathetic attempt to compensate Black children for their lower IQ's at the expense of our British youngsters.

It's business as usual despite....

Race Act Charges!

■ Joe Pearce and Ian Anderson with their summonses

AT BARKING Police Station on Friday 2nd November NF National Activities Organisers, Joe Pearce and Ian Anderson were issued with summonses for alleged offences under the Race Relations Act.

The charges are related to the National Front's youth paper, Bulldog, and date back to January 1982. They accuse both Mr. Pearce, Editor of Nationalism Today, and Mr. Anderson, Assistant Editor of National Front News of 'conspiracy to distribute and publish literature likely to stir up racial hatred'. Issuing the summonses was Inspector Donald Edwardson of Scotland Yard's Community Relations Squad.

On October 11th Worthing Police issued National Front News editor, Martin Wingfield, with a summons alleging that in May 1983 he distributed material likely to stir up racial hatred. The material concerned was an election address in support of the National Front candidates fighting the Brighton Borough Council elections. Also during October Harrogate police made numerous visits to the home of NF Chairman Andrew Brons wishing to interview him in connection with the National Front's ideological quarterly magazine New Nation. Mr Brons however refused to grant that interview.

The fact that the Department of Public Prosecutions is resorting to referring back to publications over 18 months old to get convictions against leading members of the National Front reveals the depths the establishment are prepared to sink to in an effort to stop the growth of the National Front.

The National Front will not be hounded and bullied by the establishment or anyone else. When National Front News contacted Joe Pearce, Ian Anderson and Martin Wingfield for their reaction to the charges, all three said that they would be putting up vigorous defences and until that time it would be 'business as usual'.

In the quest for profit....

IS IT SURPRISING that the shipyards of Britain are becoming the graveyards of Britain when so-called British shipping companies send Britain's top cruise liners to German shipyards for their annual refit?

Do the directors of these companies realise that they are jeopardising the jobs of tens of thousands of British shipyard workers and threatening the whole British shipbuilding industry in their search for that little bit of extra profit made available by having a cheaper refit done abroad?

For that matter, do they even care?

For Mrs Thatcher and her ministers it's privatisation that makes profit and she has set about the unprofitable British shipbuilding industry selling it off in the hope that in private hands such private profits can be achieved.

REDUNDANCIES

In January the Tories starved the Scott Lithgow yard on the Clyde of vital investment forcing it to close. Then sold it off for a pittance putting 4,000 workers on the dole. At Swan Hunter, on the Tyne, 2,000 jobs were axed in October as the yard desperately tried to make itself more attractive to a potential private buyer, while at Cammell Laird on the Mersey, 37 men were jailed for protesting over 1,500 compulsory redundancies.

So, we now know that privatisation means job losses, but will this sacrifice save the British shipbuilding industry?

In a word, No!

Private yards might be able to build ships cheaper and quicker, and they might be able to attract new orders for a time. But what happens when the orders start to dry up? Will they continue to build ships just to keep the workforce employed while they try to attract new business?

DESERTED BRITAIN

I wish the answer could be yes but that would probably not be the case. The private owners will have deserted Britain long before the orders completely dry up. They will be off as soon as that profit stops expanding. Off to invest their gains off the backs of the British workers in new shipyards in the Far East where cheaper labour means bigger profits.

This year privatisation has lost the British Shipbuilding industry 10,000 jobs. By the time privatisation is completed in March 1986 a further 12,000 jobs will have been lost.

National Front News believes that privatisation will destroy Britain's shipbuilding industry. Shipbuilding must be a national concern run for the benefit of Britain and the British people. Profit has no say in the matter where the defence and welfare of the nation is at stake.

LONDON'S BLACK CRIME: THE SHOCKING TRUTH!

CRIME STATISTICS for the Metropolitan Police District published in Home Office Statistical Bulletin ISSN 01436384 reveals the shocking extent of Black crime in Britain's capital City.

The report says that "a disproportionately large number of non-White persons appear to have committed those offences of street robbery and snatches". Backing this statement up are figures that show that despite making up only 5% of London's population, 59% of mugging offences were carried out by Blacks.

That means from a Black population of 350,090 living in London, 4,203 blacks committed mugging offences. That is one black mugger for every 83 Black residents. To put it in perspective if the same rule of thumb was applied for the indigenous population we would find that there is one white mugger for every 4,232 White residents. Statisticians would be quick to point out that this means that the Black community living in London would be 51 times more likely to produce a mugger than the White community. So much for the politicians and media who keep telling us that these people are enriching our culture!

ON SATURDAY SEPTEMBER 22nd the first ever march by the National Front on the theme of animal welfare took place in Brighton.

Organised by the Sussex NF Regional Council and on the theme "Stop Ritual Slaughter", over a hundred marchers from Brighton, Worthing and Croydon made their way through the busy centre of the seaside resort.

Led by a huge "Stop Ritual Slaughter" banner, the London Drum Corps and a flag party, the well ordered marchers, many who carried placards denouncing the barbaric method of killing animals demanded by Jews and Muslims, provided a stark contrast to the disorganised opposition that the 'extreme Left' tried to organise against the Front.

NATIONAL CAMPAIGN

The march finished with a rally on 'The Level', the traditional speakers corner of Brighton. There the NF marchers, along with 300 students and 'Left-wing' agitators heard Sussex NF Regional Organiser Martin Wingfield announce a national campaign by the NF, to expose the horrors of ritual slaughter by means of marches, leaflets and a video showing the appalling ritual itself. The main speaker, Brighton National Front Chairman, Ted Budden, said that the Government's toleration of ritual slaughter was another example of there being one law for the privileged class of ethnic minorities in this country, and another for the ordinary British people.

Special thanks must go to Brighton NF organiser John Broadley, who, when instructed by the police to change the march assembly point at the 11th hour, managed to operate a shuttle service between the two points ferrying marchers the 1½ miles to the new venue.

Achieving our Purpose

THE PURPOSE of the march was to draw attention to Ritual Slaughter, and to this end it was an unqualified success. Front page coverage in the Brighton Evening Argus, together with considerable other coverage in local papers, radio and television, made certain that the theme of the march was known to the public. The Ritual Slaughter of a sheep in a London street the very next day made the march even more topical and the Evening Argus of Monday 24th carried a full page report on the National Front and its campaign under the heading "We told you so say Front marchers".

The most interesting aspect of the exercise was the naivety of one of Sussex's newer radio stations Southern Sound. They interviewed a Front spokesman concerning the march and put out the interview in a number of their news bulletins. Obviously they weren't aware of the unwritten law that you are not allowed to report on the NF without the counter-viewpoint from our opponents. The front page of the Jewish Chronicle the following Friday soon made them aware of their mistake by announcing that they were reporting Southern Sound to the Broadcasting Authority for unbalanced reporting.

Postscript

AFTER THE march the Brighton Branch of the National Front received a number of letters and telephone calls from Animal Welfare Campaigners pledging their support for the Front's campaign.

A couple from Brighton wrote "We were delighted that you should make a stand against Ritual Slaughter and, but for a previous engagement, we would have walked with you".

Mrs. Rena Collins, Brighton's leading animal welfare campaigner was angry that an alleged spokesman of the Brighton Animal Welfare Campaign had denounced the NF march. She telephoned a local National Front committee member to make it clear that the Brighton Animal Rights Campaign was a non-political organisation and that the gentleman concerned had no right to speak for the group. This theme was echoed in the Evening Argus of October 6th when Mrs Christina Harrold of Shoreham wrote, "As a member of Brighton Animal Rights Campaign, I would like to comment on a report that a 'Brighton Animal Rights Campaign spokesman' made certain critical remarks of the NF."

Our group, as its name suggests, is concerned only with animal abuse in all its various forms. We are not in any way political, and it is an unfortunate precedent if someone tried to give authority to his personal political leanings under the banner of the Brighton Animal Rights Campaign."

SUPPORT THE LONDON DRUM CORPS!

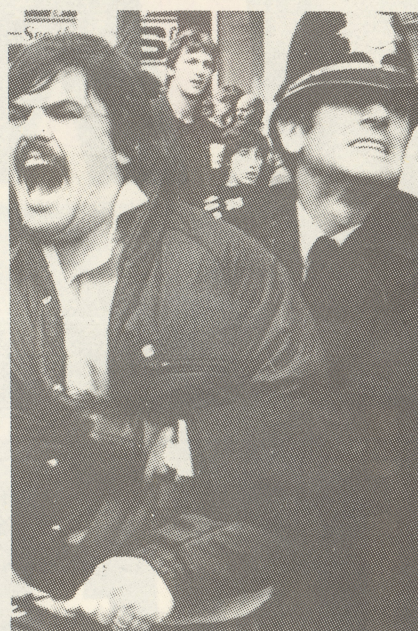

THE STAR attraction at the National Front march through Brighton was, without a doubt, the LONDON DRUM CORPS. The smartly dressed and accomplished drummers certainly attracted the public's attention as well as boosting the morale of those marching. Under the watchful eye of organiser, Michael Turner, the Drum Corps has grown to 8 snare drums and a bass, but more equipment is still needed to make the unit complete.

Michael Turner requires two tenor drums and cymbals, together with four further drummers (or people willing to learn the drums) and a cymbalist. Finally it is vital that the Drum Corps acquires its own minibus to take them to their various engagements.

Please help by giving your financial support. Send your cheques or postal orders, made payable to the LONDON DRUM CORPS, to 50 Pawsons Road, Croydon, Surrey CR0 2QF.

Viva Espagna

ANTI-SEMITISM is a magic word even more powerful than abracadabra. Just one mention of it and things start to disappear. Take the title of BBC's recent Heart of the Matter programme for instance. In the Radio Times it is called "The Merchant of Menace" but suddenly after that magic word was mentioned, that title vanished. The same happened to a Panorama documentary on Jewish terrorism in Israel against the Arabs. Whole frames of that programme disappeared after the use of that powerful word.

But while anti-semitism might put the fear of God into politicians, television producers, newspaper editors and the like, it appears to hold little fear for the man in the street, or the man in the Austrian streets to be more exact. A survey by Vienna scientist Dr. Hilde Weiss concludes that 25 per-cent of Austrians 'hold markedly anti-Jewish attitudes', while a further 25 per-cent 'showed mid-way anti-Jewish views by agreeing with negative historical images of the Jewish people'. Only 15 per-cent of the population showed absolutely no prejudice against Jews, while the remaining 35 per-cent had mildly anti-Jewish attitudes.

Still all is not lost for the children of Israel. Spain, nearly 500 years after expelling its entire Jewish population, is encouraging Jews to return to explore their ancient roots. The tourism ministry has launched a promotion of Spain's medieval Jewish quarters and synagogues which "spawned a golden age of Jewish thought".

O this year we're off to sunny Spain....

Kind Words

THE NATIONAL Front has received some compliments in the past month from the most unexpected quarters.

Labour Weekly, for instance, reports on our recent GLC by-election campaign, "The National Front have well produced leaflets" but then concludes, "but are not making a real effort".

While Time Out admits, "It also demonstrates the success of the newly organised National Front which has produced younger leaders and a more thinking strategy".

But pride of place for compliments must go to Brighton CND for their coverage in their monthly magazine of a local National Front counter-demonstration against their Hiroshima Day March. The article starts "This year's Hiroshima Day March was met by some inventive tactics by the National Front" and goes on...

"Their leaflet presented a well-argued case for an independent nuclear deterrent and withdrawal from NATO" concluding "... It's alarming to see the National Front putting out such coherent patriotic arguments".

It's possible of course that the article reflects the gratitude felt by the local CND that the life of one of their members was saved by the quick thinking of Brighton NF secretary Caralyn Giles. The gentleman concerned, was so busy remonstrating with Caralyn as she gave out the NF's 'No to Cruise, No to CND' leaflets by the side of their march, that he failed to notice that he was standing in the path of the 2A from Southwick to the Old Steine which was travelling around 40 mph. Caralyn lent forward and grabbed the peace campaigner and pulled him to safety seconds before he would have been covering a rather larger section of Brighton's Western Road than he would have probably liked.

Having your life saved by the NF, what's the country coming to?

GAPING HOLES IN BRITAIN'S DEFENCE NETWORK

THE RECENT "EXERCISE LIONHEART '84" in which tens of thousands of British troops were rushed into Germany to defend Western Europe against a Soviet-backed invasion has been adjudged to have been highly successful. No doubt it did show that British troops are some of the best in the world, but many areas of our national defence are rather more worrying.

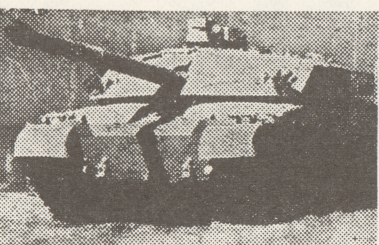

There are an increasing number of gaping holes in Britain's defence network — some due to sheer government incompetence. The decision to buy the American Trident nuclear missile system is proving to be a complete disaster!

This new system itself is not suited to Britain's defence requirements as it is essentially a first strike system while at the same time it commits Britain to being merely an American colony. For this privilege the cost paid by Britain has rocketed partly as a result of the weakness of the pound. Originally estimated at £5 billion this has now, according to a leading firm of stockbrokers soared to anything upto £12 billion.

WARSHIP PRODUCTION

As a result of this huge expenditure other areas of Britain's defence needs are suffering. One of the worst hit areas is in warship production with the first of the new Type 23 frigates still to be ordered. Should a Gulf war develop, British merchant ships could now well find themselves unprotected by the Royal Navy simply through lack of capability.

The only reason that the British army has been equipped with battle tanks with the latest Chobham armour is that Iran cancelled its order for them when the Shah was deposed. Previously it was felt that Iran had to come first, the British army was to come second... or third....

■ Tanks: The Iranian Army came before the British Army

PERSONNEL

Besides the basic equipment there is also the question of personnel. Britain's soldiers have proved themselves to be as good as ever but what about the commanding officers and the policymakers. One vital area of defence is military intelligence yet the loyalty of officers within sections of this department has been increasingly questioned. An MI5 list of possible spy suspects recently printed in The Sunday Times included: Andrew King, ex MI6; Leo Long of Military Intelligence; and Sir Roger Hollis, ex-head of MI5.

■ Spy suspects: Leo Long and Sir Roger Hollis

Another spy suspect was Sir Edward Playfair of the Ministry of Defence. Yet even if not full of spies the question of whether the MOD correctly weighs up Britain's defence requirements is equally worrying. The whole of Exercise Lionheart '84 demonstrated that as far as the MOD and consequently the government is concerned the only threat to Britain's national sovereignty comes from Communist Eastern Europe.

SUBORDINATION

To this one threat all other possibilities are subordinated. Britain is enmeshed in the American dominated NATO which prevents us from taking free and independent action. This reliance on and subordination to America is as much a threat as any invasion threat from Soviet Russia. While Russia harbours designs of military expansion and domination, America is seeking economic and cultural domination.

Should Britain ever rebel against this type of domination we can be fairly certain that America would be quite prepared to use its military might to attempt to destroy the assertion of Britain's total independence. These are equal threats to Britain and both must be guarded against, militarily, economically and culturally.

Patrick praises his lecturers and the Police

NF NEWS EXCLUSIVE

ON FRIDAY OCTOBER 5th Patrick Harrington, Chairman of the Central London Branch of the National Front, defied a mob of 200 screaming left-wing demonstrators to attend his first lecture of the winter term at the North London Polytechnic.

During the summer recess Patrick heard that he had passed his end of term exams to enable him to attend the third year of his degree course in Philosophy.

On the three hours compulsory exam paper he got 52% and on the three hour optional exam paper 53%. Both papers had a pass mark of 40%. His passes, which Patrick claims are only modest, are no mean achievement considering the disruption caused to his lectures by the escapades of the mob, and bearing in mind the strains and stresses put on the young man in trying to absorb knowledge after having to face such intimidation in order to attend lectures. Even Fuse, the poly's student magazine, admitted that his exam passes were 'comfortably'.

On Sunday 21st October Patrick Harrington gave an exclusive interview to NF News.

"On Friday it took me five minutes to push my way through the mob to attend lectures. The directors of the poly had changed the venue of lectures at the last minute in the hope of taking the heat out of the situation but unfortunately it didn't help.

■ How would you like to face this mob each day?

There were 200 demonstrators outside the building. I won't call them students because from what I could see the majority came from outside the college. I was only able to attend lectures with the aid of a police escort through the mob, and I have only the utmost praise for the police in their handling of the situation this term. It has been excellent."

■ Patrick Harrington: Just wanting to finish his studies

There were five arrests outside the poly that day and the officer in charge, Commander Eric Humphrey was shocked at the 'naked violence' of the demonstrators. As a crowd control barrier collapsed in a surge to stop Patrick gaining access Commander Humphrey likened the ensuing brawl to a "large scale rugby scrum."

What about once he is inside college, attending his lectures?

"The lecturers are very good at teaching their subjects. I have four assigned to my course with a couple doubling up on the different philosophy subjects. Only one of those lecturers felt it necessary to give me his political interpretation of the situation and I politely informed him that I had no wish to know his political views. Since that time he has taught me well, in fact they all have, passing on their knowledge in an informative and interesting manner."

So how does Patrick see the coming year?

"I may be wrong, but I believe that the attitude of the directors of the polytechnic has changed and that they are now willing to help me complete my studies. The National Union of Students has disassociated itself from the demonstrations against me, isolating the intolerant minority of protesters together with their outside helpers. It is a fact that the 'red agitators' who confront me outside college really regard the picket against me as an extension of the Miners pickets!"

I came to this college to gain my degree in Philosophy. I only wish to be able to conclude my studies, and, if good enough, achieve that ambition."

National Front News wishes Patrick Harrington every success in attaining that goal.

NF DEMO IN GLASGOW

ON SATURDAY 8th September over fifty Scottish National Front members led a counter demonstration against a march through Glasgow by Sinn Fein, the political wing of the I.R.A.

Amongst the marchers were the Labour Committee on Ireland, the Socialist Workers Party and the Revolutionary Communist Party, while the NF counter demonstrators were joined by local loyalists, appalled at seeing the black flags of the I.R.A. on British streets.

At numerous places along the route of the march trouble flared and police reinforcements were called up to protect the marchers whose pro-I.R.A. chanting was drowned out by the boisterous singing of 'Rule Britannia'. The NF counter demonstration received national coverage with National Front placards and flags to the fore.

Credit for this well-organised activity must go to John Ross, the NF's Scottish Regional Organiser and Peter Shepherd, treasurer of the Edinburgh Branch of the National Front.

COMBAT FRONT GRANT

THE SUCCESS of National Front activities in Lothian Scotland is worrying the local authorities so much that an extra grant has been given to the Community Relations Council.

Councillor Madeleine Monies said that the increased grant would be money well spent. "It's time we opened our eyes and saw what the National Front are doing in our area".

RAC SUMMER FESTIVAL

THIS IS THE VOICE—
THE VOICE OF BRITAIN!

by a member of Rock Against Communism

NEARLY 400 fans came from all over Britain to the Suffolk countryside for the first ever RAC all day festival on Saturday 29th September. While four full coaches came from London, groups came from as far away as Belfast, Scotland and the West Country as well as many local people from East Anglia.

The atmosphere, quiet to start with, soon started warming up as 2,000 watts of White music was hurled into the arena (not to mention the surrounding few square miles). The first bands on were Last Orders and Buzzard Bait who were heard for the first time by many people there. In between the bands as well as liquid refreshment there were vast quantities of beef-burgers being supplied courtesy of West Suffolk NF.

With Offensive Weapon and then Public Enemy on stage the event really started to liven up — and thankfully the rain which was forecast failed to materialise. About mid-afternoon the village policeman arrived, having heard that there was some form of party going on. Seeing that the event was well stewarded and that there were no problems he decided to go home for his tea.

The festival reached its culmination with Brutal Attack and finally Skrewdriver, during whose set the atmosphere reached a crescendo with "dry ice smoke" and the burning of the Communist red flag.

End result of the day: 400 White youths, mainly skinheads, had a great day out, no damage, no trouble, no arrests, no local people abused, insulted or even affected. What a shame the so-called newspapers don't report on events like this, but then they only report patriots when there is trouble.

REFLECTIONS by Ted Budden

THE DECISION to ban All-American clod Martin Galvin from entering Northern Ireland was the right one. The decision not to shoot this IRA armoured on sight when he did put in an appearance was the wrong one!

Even worse was the reaction, after the event, of the Northern Ireland Secretary Jim Prior, the man who fought the flab and lost.

He thought that the banning of Galvin was "probably a mistake". A mistake? Banning an enemy alien a mistake? Yegods!

No wonder Ulster is in such a parlous state if it has been administered by such a flabby, yankee-groveling, snivelling temporiser.

Naturally, one can see the difficulty of his position at that time. After all, he might have been called upon to justify the exclusion of an enemy alien to a Parliament largely composed of enemy aliens that only the idiot British could elect. No wonder he resigned.

TARGET PRACTICE

The furore all stemmed, of course, from the botched attempt by the RUC to actually enforce the law by arresting Galvin which resulted in a melee in which an IRA sympathiser was accidentally killed.

It really is incredible that the RUC should have so mistaken their purpose in Ulster. They are not supposed to kill the enemy. Their role is to be used for the enemy's target practice.

The media were at the incident in force, naturally, in their role as the IRA's PRO's and they contrived, no doubt by skilful editing, to present a picture of the RUC as an undisciplined rabble.

Bad enough, but worse was to follow.

For if happened that at this time, in the far-off Aegean, there cruised one David Steele, resting from his labours as the so-called Leader of the so-called Liberal party.

This septic little pimple on the body politic immediately set a new record in long-range judgement by hastening to describe the Ulster incident as "a police riot".

Now it is alleged that this person is believed by British electors to be the most capable party leader in British politics which is a telling comment on the intelligence of the British electorate.

Certainly, Steele is somewhat less than well-qualified to wax indignant about the death of "an innocent bystander". It was he, remember, who sponsored the bill to legalise abortion which has resulted in abortion becoming the most frequently performed operation in British hospitals. He has, furthermore, consistently opposed attempts to stem the ensuing slaughter of the innocents.

Ulster has, over the last 15 years, suffered many sorrows and many indignities.

But to be forced to suffer a lecture on humanitarian ethics by an abortionist's runner — this surely is Ulster's darkest hour!

MANY PEOPLE are bemused by the chaotic state of Israel's economy with its rate of inflation presently heading for 1,000% per annum. After all, the Jews are financial wizards, are they not? How then can a nation of financial wizards flounder in an economic morass?

Well, the simple answer is that Jewish financial wizardry was never concerned with creating real wealth but of manufacturing money out of thin air. Wealth is not created by share-pushers trying to peddle worthless stock to other share-pushers. For that operation to succeed, an unlimited supply of suckers is required — namely the Gullible Goyim.

Israel has none, hence the problem.

COLLAPSE

However, it should not be supposed that Imperial Zion is thereby in danger of collapse. Israel may be short of Goy suckers but the United States is positively swarming with them and Wall Street, after all, is still the hub of the Empire.

So despite their record of economic ineptitude, the Israelis can positively guarantee that their reckless imperial ventures will be underwritten by the American Government and that the American Jewish lobby will request, nay demand as of right, ever-increasing subventions from hapless Goy taxpayers.

That is real imperial power.

OUR ENVIRONMENT

THE COUNTRYSIDE of East Anglia has lost much of its wildlife and plant life in recent years because of 'agricultural' and land development. That was the conclusion of a recent study conducted by Dr. Martin George — regional officer of the Nature Conservancy Council.

In his study, Dr. George noted that: The destruction of woodland, heaths, species-rich meadows has clearly had an impoverishing effect on the wildlife of Norfolk and Suffolk."

(Marches and heathlands have declined through drainage and being ploughed up — and an estimated 20,000 km of hedgerow and field boundary has been destroyed in the last few years.)

EXTINCT

Dr. George added: "The fragmentation of habitats which results from the improvement of agricultural land and commercial forestry operations undoubtedly increases the likelihood that species will become locally extinct."

In this respect many species of wild butterfly have already disappeared. Many plants and grasses have also disappeared.

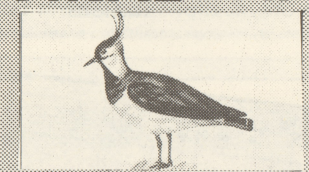

The National Front believes we need to break-up the large areas of land owned by foreign nationals and absentee financiers and speculators and hand it over to young Britons who are willing and able to turn the land to productive use in 'family size' farms.

We must also learn to respect mother nature — and not despoil it.

FINAL LAP

LAPWINGS, among the best-loved of British birds, are disappearing from most of England. And the culprit is modern agri-business farming techniques.

For a survey by the British Trust for Ornithology concludes that there is 'a major decline in the numbers of lapwings breeding in southern Britain.'

The Trust maintain that the numbers of lapwings breeding in England has dropped five-fold over the last 20 years. And even those that do breed usually fail to produce young.

And the reason for this? The Trust blames the decline on farmers who have ploughed up grassland to grow cereals.

EUROPE'S NUCLEAR DUMP

THE NORTH-east tip of Scotland could house a £200 million reprocessing plant, designed to receive shipments of radioactive material from Europe.

For the UK Atomic Energy Authority hopes that Dounreay in Caithness will become a major European reprocessing centre. Dounreay is already the site of a prototype fast nuclear reactor.

If approved, the area would handle material from four fast reactors and would act as a reprocessing plant for Europe. It will be supplied by regular shipments by sea.

National Front News is stridently opposed to Britain becoming the nuclear dumping ground of Europe.

Much human suffering and ecological damage has already been done by our own Cancer-causing nuclear plants. Now the pro-nuclear power lobby wants to dump everybody's nuclear waste in Britain.

We must fight for a safe and clean future for Britain. That's why we must oppose the building of the nuclear reprocessing plant in Dounreay.

IMMIGRATION FRAUD!

BACK DOOR immigration by Blacks and Asians is becoming a multi-million pound racket which thrives on the refusal by the British government to deport illegal immigrants. If deportation on discovery of illegal immigrants was enforced the racket would die a natural death — instead it is growing rapidly.

Different methods are being used to bring Blacks into our country. In one racket the names of dead immigrant children are being "stolen" by an Asian gang to produce false passports which are then sold at £2,500 each. Ghanaian women are coming into the country at a cost of about £600 by going through a "proxy marriage of convenience" with men from Holland and Germany. Having obtained a German or Dutch passport they then have an absolute right to enter, stay and work in Britain under E.E.C. regulations. Just one Dutch organisation which arranges such marriages are thought, by the police, to have obtained around 2,000 passports in the past few years in this way.

■ Ghanaian women enter Britain by a marriage of convenience

The number of Blacks who simply come into Britain as visitors and then stay is also on the increase. All these Blacks is in addition to legal immigration which last year included 23,000 from the New Commonwealth of Pakistan.

According to Mr. Newsam, Chairman of the notorious Commission for Racial Equality, such figures mean that "major movements inwards are over and the taps are set to a trickle". Some trickle... 30,000... 40,000... 50,000... no one really knows, but what we do know is that just one, is one too many.

When an illegal immigrant does inadvertently come to the attention of the authorities they do everything possible to prevent deportation. When one Ghanaian woman living in Wandsworth was served with a deportation order the local MP, Alf Dubbs, immediately took up her case and persuaded the Home Office to review the case and let her stay in the meantime.

In the West Midlands, the Council are taking on two "researchers" "to investigate deportation on immigrants" at a cost of £25,000 a year plus expenses — clearly not to enforce such orders.

Coloured immigration has been a tragedy since it started. Rules have been inconsistent, and have caused many personal tragedies for the British people as well as the unfortunate immigrants, and only worse can come. There is only one solution: total repatriation of every last Black in Britain.

CONCERN OVER SIZEWELL

AN ACCIDENT at the proposed Sizewell B nuclear station would lead to 1,500,000 people abandoning their homes, the evacuation of Ipswich for 20 years, and the destruction of thousands of acres of prime agricultural land.

That was the findings of a recently released report, Accidents Will Happen, which also maintains that the emergency plans for evacuating people downwind from Sizewell B are totally inadequate. As the plans now stand, there is no provision for moving the people of Leiston, the town nearest the plant.

This report only serves to confirm the National Front's views about nuclear power: That it has not been proved to be safe, and that Britain should embark on a programme of utilising natural, non-polluting energy sources.

More News of THE PRIVILEGED CLASS

September 9th.

WEST YORKSHIRE County Council have made available a grant of £30,000 to enable Radio Leeds to put out a half-hour daily programme for Asians. It will consist of Asian music and Asian conversation in the various appropriate languages.

September 11th.

MUSLIM PUPILS in Sheffield are to be served ritually slaughtered Halal meat at school meals, according to a package of proposals demanded by the council's education authority.

The package also includes allowing teenage Asian Girls to wear track suits during P.E. lessons and time off studies for religious and cultural festivals.

Grovelling council spokesman, Michael Bower, said "We are anxious to do what we can to make Sheffield school meals more acceptable to Muslim children". Not surprisingly community leader Choudry Walayat announced "We are very happy with the proposals".

September 16th.

BIRMINGHAM COUNCIL have been told to build bigger houses for the city's growing Asian population. The instruction came in an official report which highlighted the high birth-rate of Asian families in inner city areas.

City planners warn that problems could arise unless more, larger houses, are built to accommodate the traditional extended Asian family.

September 17th.

PRIVILEGED CLASS member Jamaican, Glenroy Chambers, has been awarded £750 by an industrial tribunal after he was "treated disrespectfully" during a job interview.

September 18th.

MUSLIMS IN WALSALL are to be allowed to bury their dead, with the bodies just wrapped in linen, in council run cemeteries.

The long standing British custom of burying the dead in coffins has been overturned to enable Muslims to adhere to their own religious customs.

September 23rd.

WOLVERHAMPTON COUNCIL has given £3,300 to a group of 20 unemployed members of the Privileged Class so that they can enjoy a nine month trip to India.

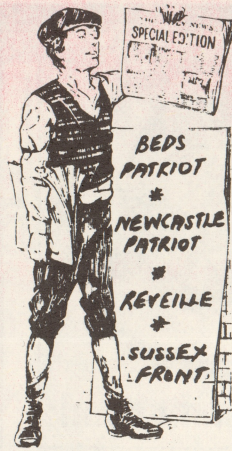

The grant was opposed by two brave Tory councillors. Mrs Paddy Bradley dared to mention that "Ratepayers money was being spent on a holiday at the expense of vital schemes at school", while Geoff Platten pointed out "It always appears to be the Afro-Caribbeans and Asians seeking the cash handouts".

Their remarks angered Privileged Class members in the public gallery who accused the councillors of being racist!

September 26th.

COUNCIL OFFICIALS in Birmingham have agreed to pay £15,000 in running costs so that the city's Christmas decorations can be set up and switched on for October 1st.

A further £8,000, one third of Birmingham's Christmas decoration budget, is to be allocated for the festival on that day which celebrates the Asian new year.

ON THE LOCAL FRONT

A review of local NF publications

"LOCAL REDS FURIOUS over NF activity - but publicity gives boost to recruitment". That's the headline of the October issue of Newcastle Patriot, a local NF magazine produced by Newcastle National Front.

"Black Savages hidden by media cover-up" is the headline of Reveille, 'the voice of Croydon National Front', while 'Probe after demo leak' is what Brighton National Front have to offer in their Sussex Front.

More conservative (with a small 'c') is Bedfordshire Patriot which leaves its front page clear to advertise the forthcoming Beds and Herts NF meeting where Deputy-Chairman of the party, Ian Anderson, is the main speaker. For the first time the local faithful are to be addressed on council property.

POSITIVE SIGN

These publications are a positive sign of not only growth, but commitment and organisation by the National Front in some vastly different areas of Britain. It is a considerable achievement to produce a regular, readable and interesting magazine based around branches of the NF and the editors and their helpers on the respective papers have done very well in the circumstances.

The October issue of Bedfordshire Patriot contains ten pages including an informative supplement 'Key to Victory' a blueprint for desired activities for a branch of the party. Editor, John McSweeney has put together an interesting package with articles on a wealth of subjects and the fact that the latest issue is No. 11 shows that Bedfordshire Patriot is becoming a permanent contribution amongst the local publications.

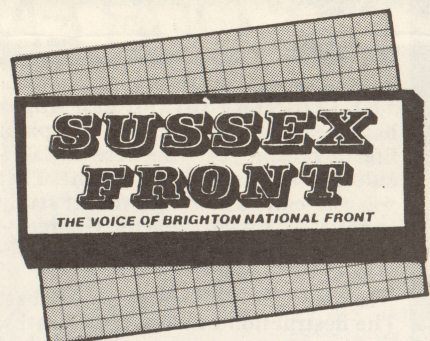

PEPPERED

The six-page Newcastle Patriot gives plenty of news of the activities of the local NF branch, outings, donations, paper sales, and branch meetings together with items of news that would generally be of interest to Newcastle's nationalists. The paper is peppered with small boxes containing brief messages. "I'm a supporter. Keep me informed of activities" Name, address etc, and "I'm a patriot. Let's keep British jobs for British workers. It's time to put our own people first. Send me £1.00's worth of nationalist literature". It's a novel way of creating interest in book sales and recruitment.

Croydon Branch's Reveille, although only four pages, has plenty of news crammed into those pages. It doesn't cover the activities of the local NF as much as its counterpart in Newcastle, but concentrates on Black Crime giving the horrific rundown of crimes by Blacks in the area. 'Exposing the Wordworm' is an interesting insight into the background of a 'red teacher' at a local Croydon school while the monthly focus on a specific NF policy is a good idea.

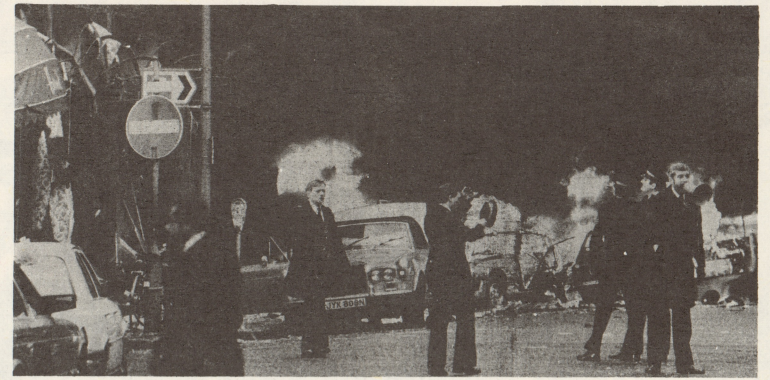

SUPPORT

It's disappointing that both Newcastle Patriot and Reveille fail to give a plug to their hard-working committees and activists in their respective branches. This is certainly not the case with Sussex Front. In its eight newsy pages, Sussex Front mentions no less than fifteen committee members and activists as well as providing photos of the majority of them. The Sussex based paper is the longest surviving local NF magazine and while its format and number of pages may have changed more times than I care to remember and its regularity of appearance leaves much to be desired, its current issue No. 26 is as interesting as ever concentrating almost entirely on the activities of the Brighton Branch of the National Front.

THE BLACK FACE OF

MOTHERS of children at Gonville Primary School in Croydon have kept their children away from classes because they claim that the school is being taken over by an Asian culture. Angry mothers have told local NF officials that the educational needs of their children were being put second to the celebrations of the Hindu Festival 'Diwali'. The National Front has pledged to help draw attention to the Asian takeover of Britain's schools and is looking into the possibility of producing a leaflet to warn parents what is happening in their schools.
